

Helping you choose the best books for children

LoveReading4kids Reader reviews of Football School: Where Football Explains The World by Alex Bellos, Ben Lyttleton

Below are the complete reviews, written by the LoveReading4kids members.

Lewis Briggs, age 10

A fantastic book full of informative, interesting facts, jokes and quizzes all about football but based around school topics. A book for football loving kids, and parents!

This book is fantastic! It's all about lessons at school based on football. It's very informative and I learnt a lot about football facts that I never knew. I really enjoyed doing the quizzes and testing my family on some of the more difficult ones. Not only did I love it, but my dad did too! I will definitely recommend this book to friends and I now want to read other books by the authors. This is for all football lovers!

Rob, age 7

An incredibly informative book for football mad readers.

My 7 year old son: 'I liked the comic bits (strips) best. Also the quizzes. There is a lot of facts in this book.'

Parent: A brilliant book for football mad older primary school readers. At the moment, it is too wordy I think for my son. He was a bit overwhelmed by the sheer amount of information in it. Probably best to dip in and out of for a while. He found the biology section quite amusing, being still a fan of toilet humour.

Oliver Lonsdale, age 9

Fab book, easy to read, lots of funny facts and info. Loved it.

I loved this book. It works like a school timetable. So it's split up into lessons like Biology, English, Drama, History and Physics amongst others. There are quizzes and fun facts that all relate to football and for this reason it's easy to read. I think they should do others on different sports.

Prisha Yadav, age 7

An amazing and interesting book.

The Book is interesting and is fun to read. It has amazing facts. I have learnt a lot of things from this book.

Callum in Year 7 - Great Torrington School

Good and fun! I felt this was aimed at younger children and had good games and puzzles.

Oliver Corlett, age 9

This book is written in chapters as though they are school lessons. At first, I was a little apprehensive, but when I discovered the first chapter was about poo and incidents involving famous football players and their toilet habits or accidents, I was laughing out loud.

I love the way the book is humorous and I learned lots of new football facts to share with my friends. I also found the cartoons very appealing and made it even more fun.

I would highly recommend this book to any football fan aged 8-12 as I think it is very interesting and funny.

Josh Parcell, age 9

'Football School' is a really good book based on every single lesson you would have at school but with a football theme! I really enjoyed the mixture of football facts and the funny comic strips.

The book includes a mini comic strip at the start of every new lesson, this is a non fiction and fiction book so is a really good mixture of different styles of writing.

I would recommend the book to people who love their school and football!