

LoveReading4kids Reader reviews of The Battle of Blighty Bling Written by Ruth Quayle

Below are the complete reviews, written by the LoveReading4kids members.

Huxley Glen, age 7

A very funny book with a great story from start to finish. Great characters throughout the book and very well written with good illustrations which really brought the story to life.

This is such a funny book and you are guaranteed to laugh out loud while reading it. We couldn't stop reading it because we wanted to see what adventures they got up to next. All of the characters are very well written especially the children. The illustrations really brought the characters to life. We would recommend this book as it is so well written.

Prisha Yadav, age 8

Amazing Book full of adventures.

I enjoyed reading this book as it was full of mystery and adventures. My favourite character was vic who was the eldest pirate as I could relate myself to her. The storyline was interesting as vic and her pirate family tries to get back when their boat sank last year and how they hated human's lifestyle. I liked that the book was full of suspense. I would like to recommend this book to young children especially those who love pirates.

<https://prishayadav.blogspot.com/2018/07/the-battle-of-the-blighty-bling-by-ruth.html>

Sam Briggs, age 9

An adventure book about 3 pirates looking for their gem, and lots of things happen along the way.

This is a book about 3 young pirates in an adventure, They go looking for their stolen gem, the Blighty Bling. Lots of things happen and my favourite part was when they met the bad pirates. I think the book was good, but for it to be great I would have liked more excitement!

Alex Golding, age 8

The Battle of the Blighty Bling was wrote by Ruth Quayle. I very enjoyed this book very much because there are funny bits like the bit were the mum tells the dad to walk the plank. I would like to do this to my sister.

It is a story about pirates losing their boat and how to defeat a pirate called Guillemot. Guillemot is a bad pirate who want the Blighty BLING!

Ollie and Toby Hopwood, age 8 and 6

This book is completely hilarious. We were screaming with laughter because the pirate kids are really naughty. The pictures are really good. I wish we had a parrot that shouted rude words at people.

The Battle of the Blighty Bling is completely hilarious. Some pirate kids have ended up living in a leaky caravan on the South Coast of England because their parents have lost their ship The Sixpoint Sally. Then the kids lose their family treasure called The Blighty Bling while their parents are out shopping. They have to get some non-pirate kids to help them get it back from a really nasty pirate who bites people's fingers off with his gold teeth. Then they lose their little sister Maud as well as the Blighty Bling. We were screaming with laughter because the pirate kids are really naughty, like when the boy called Bert sticks his bum out at the posh neighbours and when the toddler Maud shouted "You're quite old, why haven't you died yet?!" at the horrible pirate. The pictures are really good and I wish we had a parrot that shouted rude words at people. We definitely give this book a five out of five.

www.acornstem.co.uk

Lucas Blake, age 7

Like pirates, adventures and loads of cool pictures? Then this book is for you. Just watch out when the parrot flies overhead!

This pirate story is good. A group of children (two who are pirates and two who are not) have to rescue the youngest pirate and family treasure from the gold-teethed fierce Captain Guillemot. The rescuers are helped by sweet wrappers, so you understand why the pirates say never to eat healthy food! I really like the pictures (especially the puffins) and the black pages. At first I thought it might have a flick-book animation. I thought the bombs with the page numbers might explode if I flicked the pages but it doesn't. My favourite part of the story was when the McScurvy's parrot had the last laugh - it made me laugh! I would recommend this book to anyone who likes pirates and adventures!

Amatullah Khatun, age 8

'The Battle of the Blighty Bling' is a rip-roaring, fantastic book. Perfect for fans of Mr Gum, and Spangles McNasty books. The wacky illustrations by Eric Heyman are so brill.

The McScurvys are a family of pirates like no other you've heard or read of. They get seasick, now live in a caravan, the kids go to school and their parents work in a supermarket (where they pinch yummy food for their piratey feasts).

Sister and brother, Vic and Bert are trying to impress their younger sister Maud and so play pirates with their family's priceless treasure, The Blighty Bling. BUT when their swords are stolen their whole adventure or misadventure starts. We whizzed through this funny read in no time at all.

Aggie Daniels, age 8

A great read for 5-7 year olds with a love of pirates!

I thought that this book was going to be about a massive pirate fight. I was immediately hooked into this book, but I wasn't sure if it was meant to be funny or not. I certainly laughed a lot when Maud stuffed the mighty bling into her nappy!!! I think that this book might suit a slightly younger reader, maybe 5-7. Although I enjoyed this book i think that you would enjoy it more if you really liked pirates.

Teddy Simmons, Age 8

I loved the unusual characters & I couldn't stop reading!

I loved the unusual characters & I couldn't stop reading! My favourite character is Vic, she is clever and funny. I like that the family live in a caravan & the story made me giggle!