Liam Hill, age 5

I liked it when they were flying on their kite, because it was very funny and made me laugh. They were all dangling down from a kite train. The seal got tangled and then he joined the kite train.

I also liked it when the penguin got another kite and the monkey used it to go back to the jungle.

I can make lots of sounds when reading the book, like when they fall into the jungle and go AAAAAAAAAAARRRGGGGHHHH!

I also really like the funny pictures in the book with the cheeky monkey hiding and Mr Snappy the crocodile ice cream man. The cheeky monkey is everywhere!

Mummy read the book to me but I can also read it myself by sounding out the words. I sometimes need a bit of help with the tricky words.

Alexander Reiff, age 3 and mum

We loved it! If you love Oliver Jeffers, you'll love this. Great illustrations which add to the story line so well. Simple story but so much to talk about.

When you are asked to read a book four times, one after the other, you know it's been a success! The text is so lovely and the illustrations are so brilliant! From the blue hues of the ice to the vibrant colours of the jungle there is so much to look at and talk about. What is a penguin doing in the jungle? Why is that monkey looking so uncomfortable? Great for a very inquisitive 3 year old. It's definitely a book that will be read and read. If you love Oliver Jeffers, you'll love this.

George Reece, age 6 and mum

Lovely heart warming story and wonderfully illustrated.

George was able to read this book for himself and his little brother enjoyed looking at the pictures. The story was simple but very effective and left us all with a smile on our faces. A lovely read.

Eleanor Haines, age 2 and mum

A lovely tale about a penguin who has a new kite and gets blown away on an adventure, taking friends with him along the way.

Lots to see and talk about on each page, cute animals (Wibur was definitely Eleanor's favorite, 'oh mum, he's soo cute!') We also loved that it rhymed. I find a rhyming book helps keep little ones attention and the story flows a lot better.

Eleanor found it hilarious that the monkey snuck home with them at the end and she had great fun trying to spot him on the last few pages.

It was definitely a thumbs up from us!

Nicola Laverty and Ruby, age 5

We loved the gentle rhyming text of this book and Ruby was very taken with Blue, the main character and his friends. She absolutely loved the page where the elephant blows them home.

A lovely book to share again and again.
