A really fun read, lovely story with great pictures.

A great book - we read it twice in one sitting! Both Robyn (7) and her sister Sabrina (3 1/2) really enjoyed it. The illustrations are wonderful and really help bring the story to life. I can see this book becoming a regular read here.

Logan Upchurch, age 4

I love this book. I like the frogs, because they jump, jumpety-jump!
And the dog was kind to the frogs but the toads didn't like the frogs. My favourite frog is the one with his hand up, because he looks like he's in school and he wants to speak. I liked counting the butterflies as well.

Logan's Mum

*This is a charming story about one dog, two children, and the differences between frogs and toads. It's ideal for either learning to read or a relaxing bedtime story, and it felt great to talk about wildlife and gardens. My child is at the stage of blending sounds and forming sentences, so we took turns to read and both really enjoyed it. The illustrations are beautiful and expressive and the counting games are fun – we loved picking out our favourite frogs, toads and other creatures. We'll be buying this for friends.

Emma, Sam and Jack Radford

Thank you so much for our copy of 'We Are Not Frogs' by Michael Morpurgo. We love it! Both my 3 and 5 year old have been asking for it at bedtime every night! The story is funny and informative, with fabulous illustrations. Sam (5) thinks the dog is great and loves the humour of the ending. I have been asked to read the "chocolate cake part" lots. The counting/finding tasks on each page are so great and there has been a lot of competition to see who can count them all first - so it's been a real winner for literacy and numeracy! Jack (3) has practised his counting to ten with this and wants to keep redoing it, especially counting all of the frogs at the end - it's given us a few laughs. We thoroughly recommend it!

Aggie Daniels, age 5

The best bit about this book is the toads because they are funny. I liked the pictures because one toad is waving. The book made me laugh when the frog did a somersault. There was nothing about this book that I did not like. It was all good.*
